GREENBROZ INC LAUNCHES CANNAGIN DESTEMMER

For immediate release: GreenBroz Inc., the global leader in harvesting solutions for the legal cannabis industry proudly introduces the 215 CannaGin Destemmer.

The GreenBroz CannaGin is a compact destemmer designed to speed up the 'bucking' part of the harvest process. It features two faceplate options; the stock faceplate comes with 2 spring-loaded shearing doors and 5 various sized stem guides, while the alternate faceplate comes with 4 spring-loaded doors. Faceplates are interchangeable and backward compatible with any previous CannaGin model.

Operating on very little power (115v 60Hz at 25W 1.7amp) and weighing only 28 pounds, this powerful little machine is versatile enough to tackle just about any harvest as it works on both dry flower and freshly cut flower. This flexibility allows you to use the CannaGin as part of a dry harvest process, fresh frozen hash process, etc.

Destemming at a rate of 4-6 pounds per hour, the CannaGin employs a whisper-quiet motor, variable speed control (1-80 rpm), and food-grade materials to ensure that your harvest gets off on the right foot. Like the rest of the GreenBroz line of harvesting solutions, it is gentle, quick, and quiet. As if that's not enough, the $3,500 MSRP makes the CannaGin 215 one of the most affordable destemming solutions on the market.

In developing harvest solutions for the legal cannabis space, an issue GreenBroz quickly identified was the amount of time, money, and labor cultivations were spending on processes like destemming their harvest. While it's a simple task of removing the flower from the stem, when done hundreds or thousands of times, it becomes a task that is cost prohibitive for a business looking to thrive in a competitive market. Our goal was to design a low-cost machine that would be lightweight, versatile, and perform this tedious task while maintaining the quality of the flower. The 215 CannaGin Destemmer solves this bottleneck and we're thankful for the great feedback we've received from our clientele who have become early adopters of this new technology.
